Respected Deputy Commissioner of Labor (DCL),

We recently received your communication regarding the matter at hand, which stated that our management was described as rude. We believe this conclusion stems from a miscommunication and would like to respectfully request a follow-up meeting to ensure a clearer understanding of the issue. Such a meeting would help all parties gain a fair perspective and work towards an amicable resolution.

We were particularly concerned by the wording in your letter, which appears to place blame on our organization. We sincerely hope that a reconvened meeting will help clarify our stance and allow for the removal of such terms, as they do not accurately represent our intent or conduct.

During the previous joint meeting, the concerned candidate was not present, and you were also not there or may be unable to attend. When we requested the candidate's presence to facilitate the discussion and resolution of the issue, this request may have been misinterpreted as rude behavior.

Additionally, we felt that the officers conducting the joint meeting were not entirely impartial. They appeared to favor the candidate's side without fully considering the company's perspective, and some of their comments did not reflect the spirit of fairness that such proceedings require.

In light of the above, we kindly request that you conduct another joint meeting, ensuring the candidate's presence, so we may have an open and constructive conversation. We believe this will foster a better understanding and help us bring the matter to a fair and satisfactory conclusion.

Thank you for your consideration.

Thanks & Regards,

Siva Byrapuneni
